Dear Potential Adult Day Provider Member:

It is now more important than ever that Adult Day Providers come together for networking, education and public policy work. As you know, GADCA members attending the 2006 Kick-Off meeting on February 9, 2006 voted unanimously to become members of Georgia Association of Homes & Services for the Aging (GAHSA).

The Executive Committee recommended this to the membership in the fall of 2005 due to the continued need for formal support in helping adult day providers to 1) network within the continuum of aging services, 2) gain knowledge through education, 3) become involved in the public policy arena and 4) communicate more effectively.

The Adult Day Care members of GAHSA will now make up GADCA and become the GAHSA Adult Day Forum. As GAHSA members, GADCA Adult Day Providers will receive all the benefits of membership and will:

- Become a part of an established, recognized, formal Association with full-time professional staff
- Benefit from networking and educational opportunities with colleagues that work throughout the continuum of aging services – NOTE: The Georgia Institute on Aging is the educational arm of GAHSA
- Become the GAHSA Adult Day Forum (the venue to hold meetings for Adult Day Care members) and be included in a listserv for Adult Day Care members (the vehicle for statewide communication and information sharing)
- Have a section of the monthly newsletter to share information and educate others throughout the aging network on Adult Day Care issues
- Benefit from having representation on GAHSA committees like public policy, membership, education/professional development committees
- Be represented legislatively through the work of GAHSA legislative counsel

2007 Membership Dues:

The membership dues for 2007 are now due and payable to GAHSA.

* Current Adult Day Providers dues are $200.

* There is a Professional membership dues category for individuals in the process of developing and opening an Adult Day Program for $150.

Please complete the enclosed membership application as well as the information to update the web site listing and return it with your payment to GAHSA, 607 Peachtree Street, Atlanta, GA 30308.
